Life Is Still Beautiful

Posted by Allen on February 11, 2009

The Orange Lights have the perfect music for anybody who just wants mellow music to relax and tune out the world. Their style is often compared to downtempo bands like The Verve and Keane. Their music is usually influenced by the band members Jason Hart and Paul Tucker’s personal experiences and tragedies. This album, which was released in 2007, may sound depressing to many, but these are perfectly crafted tracks with the lead single, Let The Love Back In, which in my opinion, is the best off the album.
